Powell Named To Replace Dawson As Dean Of School Of Education

Dr. James H. Powell, associate professor and chairman of the Division of Instruction in the College of Education at the University of Kentucky, has been named new dean of the Morehead State School of Education, President Adron Doran has announced.

Dr. Powell's appointment was approved by the University Board of Regents March 13.

The new dean, who will assume his responsibilities May 1, will fill a vacancy created by the recent resignation of Dr. Kenneth Dawson, who left the University Feb. 29 to become academic vice-president of a newly-established Baptist college in Atlanta, Ga.

A native of LaRue County, Dr. Powell received his A.B. degree in social science from Transylvania College, Lexington. He received a master's degree in educational administration from the University of Kentucky, and in 1963, received his doctorate in the same area from the same institution.

His doctoral dissertation was on: "A Study of the Factors Involved in the Failure and Subsequent Success of a Voted Tax for School Buildings in Five Selected Counties in Kentucky."

For 11 years, Dr. Powell served in the Harlan County school system, including positions as teacher and assistant principal at Cumberland High School and principalships at Loyal and Benham.

In 1960, he was named director of

13 Candidates On Ballot Of Choice 68 Primary

Preparations are being made on campus for Choice 68, National Collegiate Presidential Primary, to be held April 24.

The primary will be held simultaneously on almost 2,000 campuses so that the nation's students can be heard as a body.

Also on the ballot will be three referenda questions—two dealing with the conduct and involvement in Vietnam and one dealing with priorities of government spending in confronting the "urban crisis."

All students will be eligible to vote, including graduate, part-time and foreign students, as well as those studying abroad in American branch universities.

Two campaign groups have already been formed at Morehead. A group supporting Sen. Eugene McCarthy has been formed by Louie Stewart, and John Greenman has headed up a group supporting Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Anyone wishing to form a group supporting one of the candidates may do so by contacting Dan Hopwood at The Trail Blazer office.

Grad Assistantships Available For '68-69

There will be a number of graduate assistantships available for the 1968-69 academic year, according to Dr. Jarvis Hill, dean of the graduate programs. Applications are now being taken.

Those interested should file application with the graduate office in the Administration Building.

To qualify for an assistantship, one must have a minimum grade point standing of 2.5 on all work.

Dr. Arends To Appear As Interviews Continue

Although three of the principals had earlier declined to appear on a joint Trail Blazer-WMKY-FM radio series to explore the current campus controversy on academic freedom and free speech, one of them, Dr. Robert Arends, has changed his mind and will appear tomorrow night at 10:30.

Dr. Arends, associate professor of English, said in a letter late last week to Don Holloway, WMKY-FM director and moderator of the program, that after hearing earlier programs in the series he had changed his mind about not appearing.

He and the other two, Kenneth Vance, journalism instructor, and Richard Norman, history instructor, had signed a letter dated March 11 saying that they believed it would be unethical to make public statements on the series while the American Association of University Professors was investigating their charges concerning academic freedom.

Two days later, however, a letter by Vance dealing with the issues appeared in The Kentucky Kernel, and then a statement by Dr. Arends, also dealing with the controversy, appeared in The Student Poll, an off-campus newspaper.

Subsequently the Morehead chapter of the AAPP was advised that the national organization would handle the investigation and that it should discontinue its own probe. The investigating committee, headed by chapter president, Dr. Crayton Jackson, dissolved.

Meanwhile, Dr. Lewis Barnes, English professor, responding to a general invitation by the program planners to anyone who might wish to participate, has asked to be one of those interviewed and he is being scheduled, possibly on the last night of the series. Listeners are invited to send questions to WMKY-FM which they wish answered by the participants.

The remainder of the scheduled programs, at 10:30 nightly, includes: Tonight, William Ewers, business officer; Lt. Col. Thomas A. Harris, head of the Department of Military Science, and Dr. Paul F. Davis, head of the undergraduate program.

Wednesday, Dr. Arends.

Thursday, Dr. Norman Tant, director of instructional media, and John Gartin, geography.

Next Monday night, Dr. Adron Doran, president.

Tuesday, Dr. Jackson, Dr. Barnes and Joseph Ferlanto, history.

Following the series which are

Board Of Regents Ups Fees For Out-Of-State Students

Increases in registration fees and part-time entrance fees for out-of-state students have been directed by the Board of Regents, effective with the beginning of the summer term June 10. No increases were announced in fees charged for Kentucky residents.

Registration for out-of-state summer school students has been increased by $40, from $135 to $175.

This, with the addition of the normal $10 incidental fee, makes a total of $185, for the out-of-state student attending the eight-week summer term.

With the beginning of the fall semester in September, registration fees for the out-of-state student will be increased by $80 per semester, from $270 to $350.

With the $20 incidental fee charged all students added, this makes a total of $370 per semester for the out-of-state student registering for the 18-week fall semester. The same schedule will prevail for the spring term.

Out-of-state part-time students will find their registration fees increased $10 per credit hour, beginning with the summer term. A three-hour course, the fee for which was formerly $90, will now be $120, for example.

In other action, the Board of Regents authorized the sale of $4,100,000 in consolidated educational building revenue bonds, Series F.

The bonds were purchased by John Nueveen & Co. and Associates, an international organization, and will be used to finance the construction of an addition to the Doran Student House and for the remodeling of Button Auditorium for use as the headquarters for the University's new Department of Military Science.

The Messer Construction Co. of Cincinnati has been awarded the contract for the Doran Student House construction at a cost of $2,568,800. Bids will be advertised within the next few weeks for the Button Auditorium renovation, University officials said.

BASKETBALL TOSS was one of the many attractions at the Capa Carnival, held March 7 in Button Gymnasium. The event was sponsored by Capa Tridents.

Dr. James Latham Named 1967 Educator Of Year

Dr. James Latham, Morehead professor of education, has been named 1967 Educator of the Year by the Mississippi Council for Christian Social Action in recognition of his "continuing adherence to the high standards of moral education."

Two other Kentuckians were listed among the 29 individuals honored on the group's nationally-recognized annual Honor Roll of 31 years.

United States Senator John Sherman Cooper [R., Ky.] was honored as the Republican of the Year, and former State Representative Elmer Mullins, Stanford, was listed as the State Legislator of the Legislator of the Year.

Series Of Plastics Courses Offered In Industrial Arts

by Terri Bonar

The Industrial Plastics Processing Laboratory, located on the second floor of the new Lappin Science Hall addition, now offers a series of courses in plastics as part of the industrial arts curriculum.

New courses offered are: thermo-plastic processing, thermo-setting plastic processing and mold design and construction. The mold design and construction course will be taught beginning this summer by Clyde Hacker of the Industrial Arts Department.

Every major technique for plastic tooling is available to process plastics into useful products. New conventional metal working equipment and plastic-processing equipment with specialized functions has also been ordered.

The present program is designed to develop a wide range of understanding for students who plan to teach industrial arts and those who are planning to enter the areas of business and industry, according to Heckler.

In the planning stage is a two-year program in plastics technology. Students will be able to take 23 hours in the nature and testing of plastics as well as the newly-innovated courses.

THE UNIVERSITY VARSITY DEBATE TEAM finished in a tie with Cumberland College for second place in the Kentucky-Interscholastic Forensic Conference March 15-16 at Western Kentucky University. Third Annual Horse Show Presented Here May 12

by Terri Bonar
Assistant Managing Editor

The Agriculture Club will present its third annual Horse Show, Sunday, May 12, at Breathitt Sports Center.

A crowd of 3,500 is expected with approximately 250 entries if weather is good. The main entries are from five states: Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee and Indiana. The show is open to anyone who can comply with the terms of the particular classes. There will be 16 classes in all, ranging from "lead-in-pony" to "Fancy turnout."

An allotment of $1,300 has been set aside for prizes with $40 and a trophy as first place prize. Trophies will be presented in all first places and ribbons awarded to the first five positions in each class.

Bath County Attorney Jim Richardson will be announcer and Director of Student Affairs, Roger L. Wilson will be ringmaster.

The Agriculture Club Horse Show is affiliated with the Central Kentucky Horse Show Association. This enables winners to accumulate points, with each of the first five places being awarded points. The total accumulation of points will establish a winner in a particular class for the year.

Future Farmers To Meet Here

The sixth annual Future Farmers of America Day will be held on campus, Saturday, April 6. An expected 750 high school students will attend and compete in the contests, to be held in the Industrial Arts Building and Button Auditorium. The program will begin at 9 a.m. and will last all day.

The contests include: impromptu speeches concerning dairy, hogs, and beef; welding; chapter meetings; and public speaking.

Cluck, Cluck, Cluck

Chicken Little, a satire of campus life, will be presented April 2 and 4 in Button Auditorium at 8 p.m. Admission will be 25 cents.

Chicken Little, in its fifth year of production, is presented by Open Forum. The program is designed to poke fun at the main topics of discussion among members of the University community.

The director of Chicken Little is Susan Ellis while John Cannon is chief script writer.

Forensic Tourney To Be Held Here

More than 150 high school students and coaches are expected on campus April 15-16 for a state-wide National Forensic League speech and debate tournament.

Forensic events—including debate, original oratory, dramatic interpretation and extemporaneous speaking—will begin at 9 a.m. Monday, April 15, and all competitions are expected to be completed by 3 p.m. the following day.

Participating will be contestants and teams from member schools from all over the state, among whom are listed:

Henry Clark at Lexington, Tilghman High at Paducah, Lone Oak, Hopkinsville, George Rogers Clark at Winchester, Trigg County High at Cadiz, Bardston and Bowling Green.

College High at Western Kentucky University, Campbellsville, Harrodsburg, Middiesboro, Covington Latin, Covington Catholic and University Breckinridge on the Morehead campus.

Horace Kelly, speech faculty member at Western Kentucky University, is the NFL state director and will be in charge of the tournament.

He will be assisted by Mrs. G.C. Webb, associate professor of speech at Morehead, and Harlen Hamm, director of speech at University Breckinridge. In 1966, the Breckinridge debaters won the event and competed in the national contests at Albuquerque, N.M.

The winner of the tournament here in April also will be eligible to compete in the national event, the site of which will be announced later.

National headquarters for the NFL is at Ripon College, Ripon, Wis.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the sessions.

Student Council Revising Charter

A new constitution, movies, a talent show and a beauty queen have been topics of discussion of the Student Council in the last month.

The constitution, now being reviewed before the council, is one of several which may be proposed to the council and the student body.

Talent Show

The annual council talent show has been scheduled for April 30. Junior Class President Wayne Fanning was removed as chairman of the committee and was replaced by Vice President Quentin Hatfield.

Movies

President Art Dayton announced that all council movies for the remainder of the year have been canceled because of poor support by the student body.

Mountain Laurel Representative

Homecoming Queen Lydia Lewis, a sophomore from Maysville, was chosen to be the Morehead representative at the Mountain Laurel Festival to be held later in the spring.

Laughlin Building

The Laughlin Health Building will now be open on Sundays, it was announced after investigation by a council committee headed by Senior Class President Jim Zimmerman.

Dancing In Grille

Investigation will be made into the possibility of having dancing in the grill of the Doran Student House during the evening hours.

Three Contests Being Sponsored By Radio Station

Three contests are now being sponsored by WKMY-FM in conjunction with special programming.

The first contest, "One, Two, Three!", gives listeners a chance to guess the top three finalists in the Miss M.S.U. Pageant and win a record album. The finalists should be named in the correct order, from second runner-up and first runner-up, to Miss M.S.U.

The second contest centers around Hobbits, the little people of the Middle Earth. Listeners are invited to submit drawings of Hobbits. The best drawing will be selected and the winner will be awarded a copy of "The J.R.R. Tolkien Reader." Tolkien is the creator of Hobbits.

Both contests are open to all listeners of WKMY-FM and entries should be submitted to WKMY-FM, Box 911, U.P.O.

A third contest is in effect for elementary students in the classrooms receiving in-school broadcasts at Clearfield Elementary School and University Breckinridge School.

Each student is asked to invent a game. He must submit the name, purpose, and rules of the game, and any equipment required. A certificate will be awarded to the best entrant from each class, and a room certificate will be awarded to the class which sends in games from at least 80 per cent of the students.

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield

Hatfield To Speak At Commencement

United States Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., will deliver the commencement address at spring graduation ceremonies May 27, President Adron Doran has announced. Mentioned as a possible candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, Sen. Hatfield has recently come into the limelight with his outspoken views on the Vietnam war. Elected to the Senate in November, 1966, he served eight years previously as Oregon governor. In 1964 he delivered the keynote address at the Republican national convention. No stranger to a university campus, the Oregon senator has served as an instructor, assistant and associate professor, and dean of students at Willamette University in Salem for seven years before entering government service.

During World War II, he served for 31 months in the Navy, during which he saw action in the Iwo Jima and Okinawa landings as a commander of a landing craft which carried troops ashore and returned to his ship with wounded.

In the Senate, Sen. Hatfield is a member of the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and the Select Committee on Small Business.

School Gets 'Subcritical' Nuclear Reactor

The Atomic Energy Commission has awarded the University four uranium fuel elements to be used in the construction of a subcritical nuclear reactor at the University, Dr. Charles A. Payne, chairman of the division of physical sciences at the University, has announced.

When completed, the reactor will improve the University's program for the teaching of nuclear physics and radiation shielding physics as well as nuclear pile designing and construction, Dr. Payne said.

The term, "subcritical," he pointed out, indicates the reactor will be so designed that no nuclear explosion would be possible.

The entire project is being co-ordinated and directed to allow undergraduate students in physics the opportunity to obtain maximum experience in nuclear energy and to better equip them to meet challenges of a nuclear world upon graduation, Dr. Payne went on to emphasize.

Dr. William C. Simpson, dean of the School of Sciences and Mathematics, will be in charge of the fuel elements and will direct the experiments in which they will be used as long as they remain at the University.

The four elements contain a total of 3.5 kilograms [7.7 pounds] of total uranium and 678 grams [1 1/2 pounds] of uranium 235.

Uranium 235, Dr. Payne said, is the type used in the first atomic explosion. No announcement has been made by the Atomic Energy Commission regarding the date the fuel elements will be transported to the Morehead campus.

Dr. Russell Brengelman, a member of the physics department, will be in charge of the design and construction of the reactor. He also will design the experiments which undergraduate students in physics will carry out in special programs.

A specially designed room in the newly-completed addition to Lappin Science Hall will house the reactor. The room will be more than adequately shielded and all necessary safety devices are being included in the construction planning of the reactor.

The reactor will be shielded with natural water, Dr. Payne said, with extra thicknesses of concrete providing additional protective shielding in the room in which the reactor will be assembled.

The physics department will obtain a special plutonium-beryllium source which will be used to "trigger" the operation of the reactor.

When in operation, the reactor will produce a very high neutron flux that will be useful in experiments such as neutron activation analysis, determination of trace minerals in geologic and archeological specimens, total cross section for neutrons, determination of short half-lives, trace element determination in a given plant with respect to various ecological differences as well as other uses.

Since the other subcritical piles at various universities in the state contain only the natural uranium, but not the uranium 235 fuel elements, the University had to apply directly to the Atomic Energy Commission for a special licensing which was not available through the State Atomic Energy Commission.

The reactor is expected to be assembled and in operation in time for the fall semester beginning in September of this year.

Sgt. Major Manuel Cabral Named ROTC Instructor

Special To The Trail Blazer

Sergeant Major Manuel P. Cabral has been named chief instructor of the U.S. Army Reserve Officer Training Corps group at the University.

Sgt. Maj. Cabral, who has served as chief instructor and sergeant major of ROTC units in Hawaii, had been sergeant major of the 2nd Brigade, U.S. Army Training Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C., since its activation in July, 1966.

A native of Honolulu, Hawaii, he was graduated in 1940 from St. Louis High School there and attended the University of Hawaii before entering the Army on November 15, 1941.

While he was undergoing basic training in Hawaii, the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor on December 7. Basic trainees were stationed at defensive positions on the beaches of Hawaii, and his unit—the 298th Infantry—captured the first two-man Japanese submarine off the shores of Waimanalo Beach.

For his heroism on December 7, St. Maj. Cabral was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

From 1943 until 1944, he served in New Hebrides, Espiritu Santo Island; Guadalcanal; and Bougainville, Solomon Islands.

After the war, Sgt. Maj. Cabral taught ROTC at the University of Hawaii until 1953. He returned there in 1955, following two years as advisor for the 96th Infantry Division, U.S. Army Reserve.

In 1960 and 1961, he was adjutant general sergeant major at 1 Corps Group, Uijongbu, Korea, whereafter he returned to the University of Hawaii. He was sergeant major for C-3 Operations, VII Corps, Stuttgart, Germany, from 1965 until July, 1966, when he went to Ft. Bragg.

Having studied at North Carolina State University, he says he plans to finish course work leading to a bachelor's degree in business administration while assigned to Morehead.

Council Nominations Accepted April 1-12

Students interested in seeking student council offices may sign up for those offices April 1-12, Student Council President Art Dayton has announced.

Those seeking any seat on the executive council [president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, historian or reporter], a class presidency or a class representative post, may sign up by writing letters of application to the dean of students.

Legislature Puts Student On Board Of Regents

The Kentucky legislature passed, on March 14, House Bill 118, which stated that one member of the student body of each state university will have non-voting membership on its university's board of regents. This move by the legislature not only fulfilled a campaign promise of Governor Louie Nunn but also revealed the sentiment of legislators toward student participation in a university's governing affairs.

We can see that a student on our Board of Regents will help reduce the communication gap, that exists between the governing powers of the university and the everyday student. The processes by which the university is operated can become clearer to a student if he knows he has a representative to observe and to speak for him.

Some have protested the fact that the student will be a non-voting member. We feel that simply being a member of the board will enable university students to have a strong influence on what the board decides. The board can now be more openly confronted with student problems. A vote on the board would be meaningless anyway because the balance of power would still quite obviously remain in the hands of the regular regents.

The fact remains that now student opinions can more easily be heard.

Scholarship Fund Established In Memory Of Jesse Mays

A truly exceptional member of the Morehead University community, Jesse T. Mays, assistant professor of industrial arts, died March 11. This gentleman began teaching at the age of 17 and served in many capacities along with teaching until his death.

An avid sports fan, Mr. Mays seldom missed a MSU football game. He further served the students as sponsor of the Campus Club for 31 years, as Raconteur adviser for 20 years, manager of the College Theater for 15 years, and director of Thompson and Men's Hall for 10 years.

Mr. Mays made special friendships with the students majoring in Industrial Arts. The walls of his office were crowded with their pictures—until there was no room for more.

A faculty friend of Mr. Mays notes, "When you met him, you would like him."

A fine tribute to this man is the Jesse T. Mays scholarship fund. We hope that this fund grows and urge everyone who can to contribute to it.

The Campus Club also is circulating a petition for naming the Industrial Arts Building in memory of Jesse T. Mays. This would be another fitting memorial to remind us for years to come of the contribution of this fine teacher and humanitarian.

Kennedy's Jump Into Race Not Solely Opportunism

The announcement by Sen. Robert Kennedy that he will seek the Democratic Presidential nomination appears very opportunistic at this time. It seems safe to assume that the success of Sen. Eugene McCarthy in the New Hampshire primary had a considerable influence on Senator Kennedy's decision.

In opposition to what many people believe, we cannot see Kennedy's move as solely "opportunism." His stand on the Vietnam war and his opposition to President Johnson's policies on the racial situations in the cities has been voiced long before McCarthy visibly proved the people's dissatisfaction with the Johnson administration.

Kennedy's stand on the Vietnam war seems more and more to reflect the general feeling of the American public. He favors deescalation and the placing of more of the responsibility for the military conflict, and governmental processes in the hands of the South Vietnamese government. Many of his controversial views have been adopted by a large segment of the young people, the most drastically affected by the war.

We see Kennedy's political gamble as a "now-or-never" move. His appeal to the young people appears to be at its peak. To risk four more years without stepping into the presidential spotlight could seriously hinder his chances of ever becoming the chief executive.

The most obvious "hang-up," then, is McCarthy's refusal to accept Kennedy's invitation to combine their campaign effort. Kennedy obviously feels that he, not McCarthy, can wrest the nomination from President Johnson. Whether McCarthy thinks that Kennedy is perhaps the stronger candidate is still open to speculation.

In the final analysis the presidential primaries will probably prove that Kennedy is more popular than McCarthy and that Kennedy will have the best chance of defeating Johnson for the nomination. We are also sure that if Kennedy appears to be Johnson's strongest opponent then McCarthy will relinquish his delegates to Kennedy and pledge his full support for a Kennedy nomination.

As for the shouts of "opportunism" that continually haunt the New York senator, he will probably realize change that image but must learn to live with it through what appears to be a heated campaign. For it is now or never for Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Choice '68 Is Avenue To Change Radical Image

For student radicals these days, the menu has been sparse," says Jim Roy. Vilified by the press and Congress for their noisy activism, scorned by the majority of their moderate classmates more concerned with campus affairs, and lambasted from the pulpit for their flowing locks and sundry other hygienic offenses, they seem to have nowhere to go.

Choice '68, the National Collegiate Presidential Primary, with headquarters in the Time & Life Building, New York. This week he appraised the situation of students of "the radical left."

"Their views, sound as they appear to them to be, remain largely ignored, and their protests, correspondingly, have disintegrated into displays of cynicism and emotional diatribes aimed at the Establishment," Roy says. "The American democratic process strikes them as more absurd with each passing day -- and each mounting crisis."

Choice '68, the National Collegiate Presidential Primary, to be held April 24, will probably either solidify the skepticism of the campus radicals or cause them to re-evaluate their thinking as the actual political power of the vote.

If a sizeable percentage of college students do care enough to participate in the election and, indeed, do succeed in exerting some appreciable pressure over the policymakers of the country, then the radicals may well channel their considerable energies into the drive to lower the voting age all over the nation to eighteen, Roy suggests.

"If the Primary fails, however, to stir the long silent student moderates or to influence American policy, then leftists will probably remain convinced that only forceful and, if need be, violent action will produce acceptable political ends."

"But of more immediate concern is whether the radicals will participate at all in CHOICE '68. The ballots, certainly, is well stocked with leftists and moderate-liberals, and the Viet Nam referendum questions should satisfy the most extreme of the radicals. The current anti-administration feeling among some students would also seem to indicate that a leftist vote is a distinct possibility."

Roy concedes that it is too soon to begin forecasting whether the radicals will respond to or boycott the primary. The one fact that is certain is that they do have a chance to mobilize and express themselves meaningfully and effectively in CHOICE '68. The decision is theirs, as James Reston wrote, whether they "want to dream or work." CHOICE '68 may well tell us which avenue they choose.

For The Good Of Whom?

by Ray Tussey

"The sun shines bright on the old Kentucky home", seemed to be the general theme this past week as the sun came from its winter hibernation and warmed the Morehead campus.

One could walk up campus any time during this period and see sunglasses, shorts and sockless shoes, all signs that spring was upon us.

Deciding to get into the mood of spring with everyone else, I dashed for the dorm, unpacked my tennis racket and ran with eyes on the beautiful blue sky, right into the tennis courts, only to find a tennis court.

For a moment I played Superman and then the next thing I remember I was sprawled out flat at the bottom of a pit with a song in my head and mud on my face.

"What is this," I sputtered as a hard-helmeted man lifted me to my feet.

We're preparing the foundation for a new dormitory," he said, "we know it's an inconvenience taking away half the tennis courts, but remember 'It's all for the good of the students'."

I decided that tennis wasn't such a good idea after all. What I needed was a little run on the track.

Jumping into my old beat up auto, I spun the gravel and headed toward the stadium.

WHAP! WHAM! BAM! as Batman would put it, my automobile shuddered to a shaking halt.

I immediately opened the door and ran back, hoping at least to be able to find the remains of whatever I had hit.

To my awe and amazement I came upon a large trench that someone had conveniently dug across the street.

"That was quite a bump you had there young feller," an old gentleman said as he walked up, "A construction company laid some pipe from the campus across there about a month ago and evidently forgot to fill it in. Don't get too angry," he went on, "remember, it's all for the good of the students."

Thinking him of for the information I decided I had had enough of the good old sunshine and spring weather. I started my car and slowly inched back to the large parking lot behind the Laughlin Building.

WHAP! WHAM! BAM! I played Batman again with what was left of my tires

Easing into an open spot I crawled out of what was now a nervous pile of metal and crept back down the driveway to investigate.

To my awe and amazement again I saw the remains of where a construction company had drilled large holes while checking the type of soil, unfortunately they forgot to fill them back up.

"A trifle deep aren't they," said a young professor, "but every thing else at this University, they're there for the good of the students."

My mind must have broken at this point, [it didn't have far to go] because I began to hatch some weird plans for placing land mines in the path of the construction company the next time they began digging.

Perhaps I would be arrested but I could take the Fifth Amendment and only answer when questioned, "I did it all for the good of the students."

Student Tells Concern For Future At MSU

[Editors' note: The following letter is from a prospective MSU student to John R. Duncan, Director of Admissions. The student's letter is followed by Duncan's response.]

Dear Mr. Duncan:

I recently heard a rumor, which I considered to be of great importance, that you were a racist. This rumor was concerned with the social and political life of Morehead. It was stated that one of your students attended the Anti-Viet Nam War protest recently held in Washington, D.C., and that many of the students and even the teachers at your university socially discriminated against him because of his said actions.

Also, it was said that a high administrative official aimed many derogatory remarks at him for his escapade. If this be the case, I consider it very unjust that I would consider you a racist. I would consider you a racist if you would attempt to quell Freedom of Speech and the Right to Self-Determination at Morehead!

As can be seen, it is imperative that you tell the truth, if any, behind this rumor. Although this incident may be of relatively no importance to you, it is of grave importance to me and will be a very important factor in my consideration of Morehead as an institution for the fulfillment of my educational endeavors.

Of less importance is another rumor concerning with the war in Viet Nam. It has been stated that no one debate or discussion has been held concerning our policy in Viet Nam.

If this be the case, would you please tell me why? It is, beyond all doubt, one of the most if not the most important and controversial subject under consideration in America today.

Since the source of this information was not first hand, I am writing to you so that I may learn the situation "straight from the horse's mouth." My apologies for any inconvenience I may have caused.

F. Jerry Carrico
Louisville, Ky.

Dear Mr. Carrico:

In your letter of March 11, 1968, you wrote concerning rumors you had heard regarding the alleged abridgment of freedom of speech on the Morehead campus. You asked me to comment on these rumors. I am most happy that you did not simply accept the rumors as being correct, but rather you asked for an explanation "direct from the horse's mouth", as crude as that metaphor may be.

One of our students did participate in the Viet Nam War Protests in Washington, D.C. No effort was undertaken to prohibit him from doing so, in fact we did not know he was going until the Lexington Leader carried the story of his having said he had burned his draft card and the FBI showed up on our campus to investigate the story.

No faculty member or administrative official censured the student for his participation in the protest but rather defended him to the FBI. If any student refused to interact with him socially, I am confident that during the last school year, he would have pointed out his personal appearance and his introverted behavior patterns.

I am equally certain that we have a large number of students who disagree with the position of the Viet Nam, but who would not refuse him the right to express his opinions.

In reference to your second concern, I do not know if there has been any official action on our campus this year.

I know one thing for certain—if there has not been such a discussion, it has been because no effort has been made to conduct such a conference. During the last school year, the Open Forum Club on our campus conducted a full day's discussion of Viet Nam. Four distinguished authorities were invited to the campus to present their views on Viet Nam and our nation's position relative to it. This should delete any doubt in your mind regarding the university's alleged desire to, "quell discussion" on this subject.

Only two weeks ago, our Board of Regents passed a resolution encouraging "freedom of speech" on our

Cannon Fire

From my observations on the history of mankind, it is evident we are destined to fight wars. Since war seems to be the great sport of mankind, since man is man's destiny, I think some rules should be changed to modernize the game. The main rule that should be changed is the rule that says men must die when fighting a war.

Well, I have worked out a plan that would change the entire concept of the game of war. Here are the rules I have drawn up.

The first step would be to divide the world up into a giant checker board. Each person in the world would be given a checker square all his own. Each person's square would be part of a larger square, which would represent the individual countries of the world. [I know the countries are not square but that's just a minor technicality.]

When a person reaches the age of 18, he must begin defending his square from the checker players from other countries, or if his country is invading another country, he must leave his square and attempt to jump the checker players of the country his country is warring against.

The only way one may escape checker playing at 18 is by attending college where he may take CETC [Checker Expert Training Course]. In CETC the student will not only learn to become an expert checker player but will also learn to keep his checker well polished. Those who refuse to play checkers for moral or any other reason must of course go to prison.

If a person has his checker jumped

Checker Game Decides Future Of Mankind

by John Cannon

and captured, the person is considered politically dead. He is exempt from voting, owning land or advising other checker players. He may, however, wear the Purple Heart he received for making the supreme sacrifice on the checker board.

Everytime a checker is jumped, the land that checker was defending becomes the property of the capturing checker's country. If one checker player jumps ten checkers, he is promoted and receives more pay.

After four years of active checker playing, the player no longer must play checkers for his country, but he still must defend his own square from invasion.

I am sending a complete copy of John Cannon's Revised Rules of War [JCRR] to all the world leaders and of course the United Nations. If this plan is accepted, instead of trying to make the better bomb, each country will be trying to make the better checker and have the best trained checker players.

I fear, however, the acceptance of my rules won't be unanimous, because whatever anyone else decides, France will decide just the opposite. Anyway, what civilized country would want to play checkers???

Just A Thought

I hear the University of Kentucky is planning on starting a new student newspaper. I am sure that the Kentucky Korb Korn. As all you far people know the corn cob is what's left when the kernel is gone.

Thanks For 'Unrest' Series

I would like to thank the Trail Blazer staff and the staff of WKY-FM for the interesting program series about the alleged unrest here at Morehead. It is indeed clearing up quite a few things.

I believe it is particularly interesting to note the responses of three of the principals of the controversy in regard to the invitation to appear and clarify their positions on the program.

As is typical with these types, they made meaningless excuses and refused to appear. This would certainly lead one to believe that they do not want anything cleared up, but, only want to keep beating the dead horse as long as possible. They must be hiding something indeed to refuse such an opportunity to get the free speech and discussion they have been crying so loudly for.

By and large, it would seem that the students here have refused to let this gang get a foothold. Maybe we can now get on with burying the whole mess in the garbage heap where it belongs.

campus, and encouraging authorized groups to invite knowledgeable people to our campus to speak on vital issues.

Two dissident faculty members held one meeting off campus attended by a few students but have refused to appear on the campus at the invitation of the Open Forum Club and have refused to appear on the University radio station. Contrary to what you may have heard, the freedom to inquire and discuss has always existed on the Morehead campus. I trust that you can now offer a rebuttal to such rumors if they confront you again.

We invite you to our campus to see and hear for yourself about Morehead State University. Should you have further questions, feel free to communicate with me.

Protesters Not Always Disloyal

While noting recent comment in the Trail Blazer vis a vis disloyal American protesters, I attempted to test the reasoning behind such attitudes. This consideration brought to mind many individuals who protest our Vietnam policy who by the very nature of their occupations assume utmost loyalty to the United States.

While I may agree that placard carrying, draft-card burning and defamation of our flag does not display loyalty, a position vehemently opposed to our Vietnam policy does not display disloyalty.

I find it interesting to note that two Democrats seeking the presidential nomination, Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy, have pledged to the American people a non-vietnam political settlement of the Vietnam war based on a coalition between the National Liberation Front and the Saigon government.

Now I may be wrong, but I have always thought that an aspiring presidential candidate was a concerned, loyal American. John H. Greenman

Morehead Track Meet Cancelled By Weather

The late snow storm that hit Kentucky and Tennessee the past weekend has delayed the start of the Morehead track season until Thursday.

Morehead was scheduled to open the season Saturday afternoon in a dual meet with Taylor University, but nature, as is often the case with spring sports, had the last say.

The track season is now scheduled to open [God willing and the creek don't rise] Thursday afternoon at 1 p.m. against West Virginia State at Breathitt Sports Center.

The meet will be followed March 30 with a home meet against Georgetown as a final tune-up for the University of Kentucky Relays the following weekend.

This year's squad is still a mystery to coach Marshall Banks. "This is a group I'll have to see in action before I can say anything about them," Banks commented.

One reversal may be evident this year from past seasons and that is strength in distance events and a weakness in the sprints.

"I am very optimistic about the distances on the basis of time trials we had last week," Banks said.

"Phil Hardin tied the school record for the mile in 4:19 and he ran the three-mile in 15:04 this year as compared with 16:20 last year. Larry Holbrook ran a 1:57 half-mile to break the school record in that event."

Gone from the sprinter ranks is Tommy Gray, who was clocked in 9.3 in the 100-yard dash.

"I am not going to worry much with the 100, but will concentrate on the relays," Banks said.

Banks is looking for good performances from sophomore Don Byars in the hurdles. Byars was late in coming out for track due to playing on the basketball team.

Spring football practice is also holding out two boys Banks hopes will join the thinlins in sprinters Hurlingsworth and Leon Wesley.

Baseball Team Opens Season Thursday Against Bellarmine

The Morehead baseball team and first year coach Leaton Stewart will make their debut Thursday with a doubleheader with Bellarmine at Breathitt Sports Center.

Stewart has 32 games scheduled prior to the Ohio Valley Conference playoffs May 17-18, including 12 OVC contests. The conference schedule kicks off April 20 with a twin bill against East Tennessee at Morehead.

The top returner from last year is junior pitcher Jim Martin who had a 7-1 state while Morehead was posting a 22-10 record. His top help on the mound is expected from freshmen Dan Dennis and David Stultz, and returning relief specialist Donnie Stewart.

The strongest part of the team is the outfield, with four returnees battling for starting positions. The lettermen are Juniors Doug Moulton, Gary Paulin and John Kieffner and senior Eric Kring.

Either Paulin or Kieffner may be moved to first base to help out the infield, hard hit by graduation.

The catching chores will be handled mainly by two-year letterman Steve Dunker.

Heckie Thompson Success At Western High School

by Herb Sparrow
Sports Editor

Henderson [Heckie] Thompson's formula while playing basketball for Morehead was success. As captain of the 1960-61 squad, Thompson helped the Eagles win the Ohio Valley Conference title and advance to the Mid-East Regional at Louisville's Freedom Hall, before bowing to Kentucky.

Thompson has used this same formula as a high school coach in Ohio. His Western High School team was unbeaten in 26 regular season games this year and advanced to the state Class A tournament before being eliminated Friday night.

Western High was the only Class A school in Ohio to go unbeaten for the regular season. Thompson was selected by United Press International as Class A Coach-of-the-Year from over 600 Class A coaches in Ohio.

The Stockdale, Ohio native majored in Physical Education and biology at Morehead and in addition to his basketball ability, Heckie also was an excellent tennis player and golfer.

Displeasure Over Shirts

Dennis Hursey, president of the "MC" Club has had displeasure over non-athletes wearing t-shirts on campus which say "property of Morehead Athletic Department" on them.

The students have been able to purchase these t-shirts off campus and have had no connection with athletics at Morehead.

Hursey, speaking for the athletes who compose his club, has asked that these students refrain from wearing the t-shirts. The athletes feel they work hard for the recognition they get and are proud of the letters they win and the emblems they are allowed to wear.

They do not feel it is fair for someone who has not participated in a sport, to be able to buy and wear clothes that imply they are athletes at Morehead.

Hursey said no one from his club would force a student to stop wearing these t-shirts, but he asks the students cooperation to quit wearing or not to buy these t-shirts.

Conley, Green Named To All-OVC Team

Morehead's Jerry Conley and Lamar Green have been named to the ten-man All-OVC team selected by the league coaches.

Conley, a junior guard from Jenkins, led the Eagles in scoring this year with a 16.5 average. Conley hit 41.9 per cent of his field goal attempts and sparked Morehead with his hustle on both offense and defense.

Green, a 6-7 jumping jack from Birmingham, Ala., received all-conference honors in his first season as a regular starter. The junior forward led Morehead in rebounding and was in the top 20 in the nation with 14.2 average. Green also averaged 12.8 points per game and had the second highest single game production with 28 points against Middle Tennessee.

Western Kentucky's Wayne Chapman was named as the Player of the Year, succeeding former Western star, All-American Clem Haskins, for the honor.

Chapman, a 6-6 native of Owensboro, was one of four seniors named to the squad. The other seniors were 6-7 Garfield Smith of Eastern Kentucky, the nation's leading rebounder; 6-7 Ernie Sims from East Tennessee and Murray's 6-10 Dick Cunningham.

Besides Conley and Green, the other juniors on the all-conference team are league leader scoring Willie Brown of Middle Tennessee, 6-3 Harley Swift of East Tennessee and Eastern's 5-11 Bobby Washington.

The only sophomore named to the team was 6-2 Howard Wright of Austin Peay.

Madison Brooks, of league champion East Tennessee, was named as the conference's Coach of the Year.

Don Hall Heads I-M All Stars

Scoring leader Don Hall of the Dorgies heads the first team all-intramural team for 1967-68 released Saturday by I-M Director Mickey Wells.

Joining Hall on the six-man first team are Tim Potts of intramural champion Cooper Hall, Carl Mathews of Soul Plus, Steve Walburn of the Movers, and The Born Losers' David Mosely and Larry Hall.

Don Hall captured the intramural scoring title with a 26.5 per game average, edging Jerry Akers of the Playboys by two-tenths of a point. Akers was a fourth team all-I-M selection.

Potts averaged 10.4 p.p.g. as Cooper Hall captured the title with an unbeaten season. Walburn was sixth in the league in scoring with a 16.0 per game average, while Mosley was ninth with a 15.1 average. Larry Hall was the only first teamer not in double figures in scoring average.

Making the second team are: Mike Crowe of the Kentuckians, Charles Adams and Dan Huffman of the CK's I, Joe Cox of the CK's II, the Mainstreeters' Frank Horton and Jim's Jewella's Red Kenner.

Third team selections are: Marvin Moore, Morons; Bill Ousley, Four Flushers; Dennis Mullins, IAE; Phil Estapp, Jim's Jewella; Denzilo Hale, Morons; and Gary Taylor, Aquila I.

On the fourth team are: Charles Rice, Soul Plus; Nick Weldon, Mainstreeters; Mike Eckle, Aquila I; Jerry Akers, Playboys; Dan Beasley, Cooper Hall; and Claude Frady, Morons.

Volleyball

Intramural volleyball competition has begun and is presently well underway. In the men's division there are a total of 41 teams divided into four leagues.

The women's division has only 15 teams and they are all grouped into one league. The leaders are the Shads with a perfect 11-0 record.

The woman individual point leader is Donna Weikman, who is way out in front with 223 points. In second place are Delores Conn and Sherry Dupont with 183 points each. There are 11 more girls with point totals over 100.

Tennis, Golf Kickoff Schedules In April With Expanded Slates

"We will strive to enrich our tennis program," says tennis coach George Sadler of this year's prospects.

With a schedule of seven matches, followed by the OVC tournament on May 17, this year's netmen will be trying to better their 7-3 record of last year.

The team this spring will have all of last season's outfit returning. Sadler said the team's number one man is Jim Miller, a junior from Louisville. The remaining positions are undecided, but at the present there are ten boys trying for spots.

All of the team's matches will be on opponents courts except for the opening match with Central Michigan on April 11 and 12. Construction of a new dormitory on the present site of the tennis courts has limited the tennis facilities to two courts. The new courts, to be constructed in front of the athletic dorm, will not become pleted in time for any spring meets.

The golf team will open its regular spring season April 5 against Dayton at the MSU golf course. With three top men back from last year's team, Coach John [Sonny] Allen thinks his linksters are in "pretty good shape."

Coach Allen said that since there has been only a few days of good weather, it is still too early to tell about the team.

John Lauri, Bruce Walters and Wayne Martin are the returning lettermen. Coach Allen says all three of them are "excellent golfers." Along with these three upper-classmen, there are three freshmen that Coach Allen feels can fill the other three positions on the team. They are John Smith, Richard Reis and Butch Vanversluis.

The success of the team, in Coach Allen's opinion, depends on how well these three boys come through.

Drama Review

'Earnest' -- Hilarious But Fantastic

by Dan Hopwood

The Oscar Wilde comedy, "The Importance of Being Earnest," presented March 14-16 by the MSU Theatre, is indeed one of the most hilarious plays presented this year on campus.

Outstanding performances by William Hammack as Algernon Montcrieff and Jen Bohannon as Lady Bracknell helped one forget the fantastic ending.

The play concerns the intertwined love affairs of John Worthing [Alan Tongre] and Montcrieff. Worthing has created an imaginary brother, Earnest, so that he may leave his estate more often to visit in London. When he falls in love with Gwendolyn Fairfax [Terri Bonar] he uses the name, Earnest. She is enamored by his pseudonym and leaves the impression that she could not love him by any other name.

Because Worthing's background is unknown, even to himself Gwendolyn's mother, Lady Bracknell, refuses to give her permission for marriage.

Montcrieff then pretends to be Worthing's brother, Earnest, so that he may meet Worthing's ward, Cecily Cardew [Peggy Holbrook]. They, too, fall in love but Cecily, also, loves the name Earnest.

Worthing refuses to give his consent to the marriage of Algernon and Cecily until Lady Bracknell gives her consent to Gwendolyn and him.

Then the fantastic ending. Miss Prism [Gayle Johnson], Cecily's governess, turns out to be the former governess of Lady Bracknell's sister, who had misplaced the young son of the family. Worthing, whose background had been misplaced was discovered to the long-lost son.

And his real name was—you guessed it—Earnest.

"THE PRESIDENTS ANALYST"
With James Coburn

UK Professor New Dean

The 12-grade Laboratory School at the University of Kentucky, a position he held until he was named chairman of the Division of Instruction and Director of Student Teaching at the University.

Dr. Powell also has served as president of the UK chapter of Phi Delta Kappa and as president and executive secretary of the area council of the Midwest Program on Airborne Television.

Dr. and Mrs. Powell [who will be employed in the University's business office] have two married children.

The new dean also is a Master Mason and served with the Army in the South Pacific during World War II. Faculty housing is being made for them in Morehead.

"We are indeed fortunate in having a man of Dr. Powell's caliber and experience come to Morehead as dean of our School of Education," Dr. Doran said.

"His broad knowledge of programs of education at the university level will complement the contributions being made today by our outstanding professional education faculty," he said.

Arends Agrees To Appear On WMKY-FM Interview

tated earlier, The Trail Blazer will publish a summary of the programs.

Thus far, Dean Roger Wilson, director of student affairs, and Art Dayton, president of the Student Council, discussed various avenues through which student grievances may be heard on campus and how on-campus discussion groups could be scheduled. Wilson said none of the dissonants had been denied a meeting place on campus.

Dr. Matt Pryor and Dr. Charles Pelphrey discussed general aspects of the case and specifically Dr. Arends' charges that he had been asked last month for his resignation. Dr. Pelphrey disclosed that Dr. Arends had told him last fall that he did not plan to return to Morehead next year, and he said that Dean J.E. Duncan had asked Dr. Arends last month if he planned to resign.

Bruce Bostick and Ron Jackson told of student involvement in the situation, disagreeing as to whether there is any "full-scale" student movement as was reported in some student newspapers. [Jackson said there is not; Bostick said there is.]

The night after Vance was scheduled to appear, but did not Dr. Frederick Voigt, head of the Division of Communications under which Vance teaches, and M.C. Garrott, public information officer, heard under Vance wrote news releases, discussed his activities in each area both before and after Vance received a letter saying he would not get a new contract.

Editors Michael Embry, Sue Eastering and David Walker, and former editor Rex Probus of The Student Poll discussed reasons for going off campus to publish their views.

Richard Norman and Allen Gngay, philosophy instructor, both declined to appear Thursday. [Gngay has been invited because of quotes, attributed to him at the AAPP meeting, concerning possible "retaliation" against campus dissonants. Gngay has since said the quote was published "out of context."]

Last night Dean J.E. Duncan, head of the School of Humanities, and Dean Roscoe Plafie, head of the School of Social Sciences were scheduled.

Senior Tests To Be Given On March 28

Seniors are now scheduled to take the Senior Test, March 28 at 8 a.m. in Button Auditorium.

According to Mr. Hazel Whitaker, director of testing services, a later April date had been scheduled but this date has been canceled by the test-booklet supplier, the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J.

During March, prior to appearing at the March 28 testing session, each senior is expected to pay the test fee of three dollars at the University Business office. The cash receipt is to be presented at the door of the testing room.

April 1 has been scheduled for the make-up test. For off-campus students and others who may have been absent on March 28, the test will be given on that date at 12:40 p.m. in Button.

state-supported institutions are involved in the project.

"All others have only one or two people covering the entire state with no connection with the state university in many cases," he said.

Full-year Headstart programs are being operated by the University Breckinridge School on the Morehead campus, the Paintsville Independent School, and schools in Martin and Pike Counties.
